

There will be a big rush among tennis enthusiasts to meet Beas C. Wright of Boston, the tennis champion, who is to be the guest of Captain Frank D. Ely at Port Douglas during the coming week. The bachelors are already planning things in his honor.

The lovely decorations at a recent tea were almost lost sight of by the guests when their eyes were turned to the three American Beauties at the tea table.

One of the cleverest of the many clever things done at the cotillion was the ball dance. The men who received the small rubber spheres minus the names of the fair ones were good-natured enough to take it kindly, but there was a look on each face as if it were not easy.

The bunch of pink sows at the German was wonderfully stunning, but the girl who is skilled in such things will usually wear a gown of hair on which the various fashions show to good advantage.

Mrs. P. J. Quayle of Kemmerer, Nyo., has established a reputation for herself as an entertainer, but in the affair given last week at the home of Mr. Quayle in honor of Mr. Kemmerer, she outdid herself. The banquet included the entire town of Kemmerer, and no pains were spared which could add to the beauty of the occasion. Guests from all the nearby towns enjoyed the feast of good things, including music and wit, as well as the solid viands.

Mrs. R. F. Bierwirth entertained Tuesday evening in honor of her son, Ralph, the occasion being his twelfth birthday. The decorations used were red and green, and the national colors. Each guest received a small American flag tied with some colors.

The evening was spent playing games. There was a word contest for which prizes were awarded to Miss Mauchie Ansley and Master Kenneth Maxfield. Those present were the Misses Melissa Kimball, Blanche Ansley, Helen Owens, Bessie Schuler, Irene Maxfield, Emma and Merte Nichols, and Masters Ralph Bierwirth, Kenneth Kimball, Earl Risley, Barr Frost, Veron Nichols, Kenneth Maxfield and Russell Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hendburg entertained at a candy ball Wednesday evening in honor of Misses Olga and Ivy Naylor at their residence. Sixty-three and three and a half were the games played. Refreshments were served. The guests were Misses Olga and Ivy Naylor, Vera Brown, Florence Alt, Lillie Turf and Helen Brown.

SWITCHMEN NOT IN IT.

Buffalo, Dec. 2.—The Switchmen's Union of North America is not in the movement launched by railroad brotherhoods in Chicago for the purpose of opposing government regulation of traffic rates, according to an interview with T. H. Hawley, general manager of that organization. Mrs. Hawley says she believes the railroad employees are not so much interested in the subject.

JAMESTOWN, IN 1907.

London, Dec. 2.—Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown Exposition company, left London for Berlin today. He has no doubt that the German authorities will accept the invitation to participate in the naval and military displays at Jamestown in 1907. The British admiralty has given instructions for the preparation of an exhibit in the naval arm of the exposition, which will include many models requiring much time to prepare.
